For java on the go

The wizards at Starbucks have come up with a way for you to have plenty of your favorite brew wherever you are. Their $25 French press is made from hard plastic, with heavy-duty bumpers and a clip for portability. They also have brightly colored carafes with screw-on lids that hold an extra-large serving of your favorite iced drink, and keep it cool in the sun. The tops, which double as small cups, have a tight seal that prevents leakage. They're $12.95 at Starbucks stores. To find a store in your area, call 800-235-2883 or visit www.starbucks.com.

Protection for all your lenses

Keep your glasses and contact lenses in the same carrying case. This shiny metal case has two felt-lined compartments. The divider has a mirror, and the case comes with a set of tweezers and two small bottles for saline solution and lens cleaner. It's about $15 through the Home Trends catalog (www.shophometrends.com, 888-815-0814) or Solutions Catalog (www.solutionscatalog.com, 877-718-7901).

Eye aid in single doses

Algotharm Laboratories' eye makeup remover comes in easy-to-carry, single-use vials with twist-off tops. The soothing, moisturizing mixture of cornflower water and sea lichens doubles as an eye refresher. (Think long flights.) Moisten two cotton pads and place over your eyes. The formula has a pH level similar to that of tears to minimize irritation to your eyes. A package of 10 vials costs $15. Order at 800-705-2546 or www.algotharmusa.com.
